PRIZE OFFERED FOR ONE-ACT PLAY

First Charlatan Organization, Represented by Woollcott, '09, Offers Seventy-five Dollar Prize for Best One-act Play.

MUST HAVE LOCAL SETTING

A prize of seventy-five dollars has been offered by Alexander Woollcott, '09, dramatic critic for the New York Times, representing the original organization of the Charlatans, for the best one-act play written by an undergraduate this year and produced by The Charlatans.

The only restriction placed upon the writing of this play is that the piece must have Hamilton College for a background, and that the characters must be drawn from the college community and life.

The offer of this prize came by letter last week to Professor Paul A. Fancher, who for several years has acted as coach of The Charlatans, and who has been mainly responsible for the production by that organization of one-act plays instead of Broadway farces. Mr. Woollcott's letter follows:

My dear Professor Fancher:

The first Charlatans hereby offer a prize of $75 for the best one-act play written by an undergraduate and acted by The Charlatans of today. The only limitation is this—that the play must have this college as its background and, therefore, that its characters, real or imaginary, must be drawn from the college's own people—the students, the teachers, the faculty wives, the prom girls, et al.

This is not a severe limitation. It would permit the young Oneida County Moliere to range from an historical study of the great bolt to Union a hundred years ago, for instance, down to a close-hand study of the 1921 youth who spends loosely and evilly the pennies which his folks have had to pinch and scrape to send him. Your Moliere might turn his hand to a satirical comedy on the didoes and taboos of the rushing season. Or, as better men have done, he might borrow his plot and drench it in Hamilton atmosphere. The limitation will not bind him overmuch. It is affixed to the prize as a mild suggestion to the undergraduate writers that for once anyway they try writing of something they know something about.

We would ask you and Professor Rudd to be the play-readers and a play may be said to have won the prize when, after no matter how violent and many-handed rewriting, it is actually staged by The Charlatans. If a burst of energy should produce two such actable plays, why not produce them both and let the audience decide between them?

The hat is still being circulated among the far-flung Charlatans of 1909 and 1910, and I am sure there will be enough gathered in to repeat the prize next year at least.

Yours sincerely,
ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT.

TWO HARD CONTESTS FOR SOCCER TEAM

To Meet Clark Mills Tomorrow in Exhibition Game—Syracuse Saturday—Large Squad Reporting Regularly for Practice

Wednesday will mark the opening of the soccer season for Hamilton when the team will play an exhibition game with Clark Mills. The Clark Mills team represents a team which has exceptional ability. Two years ago they were the runners up in the New York State league.

On Saturday the team will go to Syracuse to play its first intercollegiate game of the year. Syracuse has always had a strong team in the field and in its opening game of the season played a 2-2 tie with the Oneida Community team.

Syracuse has about forty men out for the team, and they have been practicing hard for three weeks Thirteen veterans are on the squad, among whom may be listed Captain Bertarshaw, Phillips, Wertz, Sargent, Houston, Legg, Rothberg, and Cooley. "Jim" Parsley, a former star, and the last year's center form the coaching staff of the team.

With over a score of candidates out for the team, prospects for a very successful soccer season are more than bright. There are a larger number of men out than last year, which means that the team will have a chance to practice defensive play, a thing which was impossible last season.

The following men comprise the squad to date: 1922, Nichols (captain), Hinke, Forshay, Griffith, Hallock, Hamilton and Smalley; 1923, Chrestien, Ellis, Heffron, Kaiser, Marlow, Mathewson, Palmer, Willard and Woods; 1924, Brownell, Chidester, V. Alison, Johnson, Lewis and Moore; 1925, Brown, Chevraux, Hawley, Holmes, J. Kaiser, Keane, Robinson, Sessions, Soper, Steele, Thompson, and Turner.

This year the Association has granta schedule of six games, four of which are to be intercollegiate contests and two exhibition games. The schedule, although not complete as yet, follows: Syracuse University at Syracuse, October 15; Colgate at Clinton, October 22; Colgate at Hamilton, November 5.

FROSH GET SCHOLARSHIPS

The following freshmen have been awarded the scholarships issued by the University of the State of New York yearly: Allen, Case, R. K. Clark, Connell, Garypie, Hatch, Parker, R. J. Scott, L. A. Wood, Sessions, Southard, Toaz, and Watkins.

REGULAR FALL MEETING OF TRUSTEES HELD

Legacy Received from Winchell, '80—Dr. James M. Glass, '97, of Utica, Elected to Membership.

The annual fall meeting of the Board of Trustees was held Saturday morning after chapel, which was postponed from the usual time to nine o'clock to enable the Trustees to attend the usual morning exercises. Of the twenty-six members of the Board, five only were absent, namely: Messrs. Andrews, Arnold, France, Pomeroy, and Tower. Elihu Root was present and presided.

A legacy bequeathed by Walter B. Winchell, '80, was accepted with appreciative thanks by the Board. It was assigned to the Greek department to be given to the man who begins Greek upon entrance and who has the highest average in three years' work.

The Holbrook Prize, hitherto unassigned by the Board, was allotted to the student who has the best record in Biology for three years continuous application.

The following appropriations were made: Seven hundred dollars to complete the baseball field; one thousand dollars for building eight new tennis courts; one thousand dollars to complete the system of roads.

Dr. James M. Glass, '97, of Utica, was elected to membership of the Board of Trustees. Paul C. Squires, '17, was appointed Assistant Professor of Philosophy.

BERRY SPEAKS AT SMOKER

The second college smoker of the season was held in Commons Hall last Thursday evening to arouse pep and enthusiasm for the game with Clarkson Tech on Saturday. This smoker was especially noteworthy in view of the fact that many alumni and trustees were present.

Speeches were given by several members of the team, including Captain Fowler, and a shadow boxing match served to stir up the necessary amount of enthusiasm. Coach Berry spoke in behalf of the team. He urged more men to come out for football, especially those of the sophomore class, which is poorly represented on the field.

President Ferry was in New York last Friday afternoon for a regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

WET FIELD CRIPPLES HAMILTON ATTACK

Clarkson Tech Holds Varsity Scoreless—Mud and Rain Renders Real Football Impossible for Either Team.

MANY FUMBLES

The Clarkson eleven held the Buff and Blue team to a scoreless tie last Saturday. The heavy rain during the first half rendered Hamilton's aerial attack ineffective, and long runs impossible. Although Captain Fowler's linesmen were outweighed by the Yellow and Green players, they made most of their large gains by line plunging. Wilson, who played right guard for Clarkson, proved a constant source of worry for Hamilton's back field men. The dampness of the day kept many of Hamilton's supporters from attending, so that the stands were filled almost entirely with students.

First Half

Clarkson kicked off. Hamilton fumbled the ball and then punted to Clarkson's 35-yard line. Clarkson immediately punted to Warren. After successive gains of five and three yards by line plunging, Hamilton lost the ball by an intercepted forward pass in the center of the field. Clarkson fumbled the ball and Brush recovered it. After another series of line plunges, Fletcher carried the ball around right end for a gain of twenty yards. With the ball on their 10-yard line, Clarkson intercepted a forward pass for a touchback. The quarter ended with an exchange of punts, after neither team had been able to gain.

At the beginning of the second quarter, Clarkson failed to gain and punted. Brush fell on the ball, when the punt was fumbled. Warren broke through the Yellow and Green for a gain of nine yards. After losing five yards in the next play, Hamilton punted, and it was Clarkson's ball on her 45-yard line. Clarkson gained 13 yards around right end, only to lose it on a fifteen-yard penalty.

Second Half

Warren kicked off. After an exchange of punts, the ball was in Clarkson's possession on her 45-yard line. When line-plunging failed, Clarkson attempted to punt. The punt was blocked and Monaghan fell on the ball on Hamilton's 45-yard line. Hamilton made first down, and was held for downs. Each team resorted to punting, and the third quarter ended with the ball in Hamilton's possession on her 45-yard line.

In the final quarter, punting was again resorted to by both teams. At one time after an intercepted pass, an excellent chance for a touchdown by Clarkson was prevented by a perfect tackle by Pitkin. The game ended with the ball in Clarkson's possession in the middle of the field.

HAMILTON COLLEGE LOSES NOTED ALUMNUS

Death of Dr. Calvin Noyes Kendall, '82, Former Commissioner of Education of New Jersey

Hamilton College suffers a great loss in the death, on September 2, of Calvin Noyes Kendall, LL.D., '82, former Commissioner of Education of New Jersey.

Dr. Kendall was born in Augusta, Oneida Co., N. Y., on February 9, 1858. He studied at Whitestown Seminary and then came to Hamilton. He was a member of the Theta Delta Chi Fraternity. After graduating with a high rank, he taught in rural schools for a time. He rose higher and higher in his chosen work until his services as a lecturer and teacher were in demand by the great universities. Woodrow Wilson, as Governor of New Jersey, called upon him to head the New Jersey school system. Dr. Kendall's record in this position was an enviable one. He was the author of several works on pedagogy and ranked as one of the leading educators of the day.

What Is The Matter?

During the past week football spirit on the campus among the undergraduates has suffered a decided slump. The cheering and spirit worked up over the Williams game was good, for the first game of the season. After that effort the thought seemed to enter the minds of many men in all four classes that their cheering days were over for the year, that they had done their duty.

The small attendance of outsiders at last Saturday's game was excusable. The small attendance of undergraduates at that game was inexcusable. The men who stayed away forgot that the team on the field was not faltering in spirit because of the rain and the mud.

Now is the time to decide our attitude for the rest of this football season. Are we going to stay away from games because it is raining or snowing, or blowing? Are we going to allow the team to do all the work? Are we going to wait for the other fellow to create the enthusiasm and spirit by his loyal support of the team?

The answer is obviously No to all these questions. Right now we have a task before us. Let's go after it and GET R. P. I.

CHANGE IN EVENTS OF AUTUMN FIELD DAY

Track Meet Will Not Be Main Attraction As In Past

Weather permitting, Autumn Field Day will be held Thursday afternoon, October 27. In the event that the weather should prove unfavorable, the events will be postponed until the next day. No classes will be held on the afternoon of Field Day.

Four athletic events are scheduled, beginning at 2 p. mm. There is to be a soccer game between the freshmen and sophomores, from which all first team men will be barred; a cross-country race between the freshmen and sophomores; a golf match between alumni and undergraduates; and a faculty handicap golf match.

The track meet will be dispensed with this year. Coach Prettyman explained the reason for this was that he did not wish the first team squads interfered with.

"The Field Day is intended primarily for those men not already on athletic squads," said Mr. Prettyman, "and furthermore should first team men be allowed to participate, their respective squads would suffer. Consequently all other athletic activities will go on as usual at the regular time. No men playing on a squad will be allowed to participate in that sport in a contest."

TENNIS TOURNAMENT BEGINS

The fall tennis season of Hamilton is in full swing. Thirty-four men have signed up for the annual Fall Tennis Tournament. Of the seventeen matches in the first round, seven have been played, and Manager DeWitt expects the finals to be played within the next few weeks if the weather permits. Some good tennis material has been discovered in the freshman class. Among the new men, Thompson, '25, and Bradley, '25, show promise. Thompson is a brother of "Tommy" Thompson, '23, last year's singles champion.

In the first round of the tournament, W. H. Dowling, '22, defeated H. G. Castle, '23, by a score of 3-6,6-3, 8-6; J. S. Fitzgerald, '23, defeated M. T. Walrath, '23, 6-2, 6-2; D. W. Conger, '22, defeated Dean Alfange, '22, 6-1, 6-0; V. S. Alison, '24, won from A. R. Webb, '24, 6-3, 6-1. M. Tillotson, '23, won by default from F. J. Burns, '22; C. G. Loomis, '23, defaulted to V. Acebron, '23; J. Niles Loveland, '23, defaulted to C. Yates, '23.

TOWNE, '25, INJURED IN PRACTICE, TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Diedrich Towne, '25, who was injured in football practice last week, had to be taken to Faxton Hospital in Utica on Sunday afternoon. His condition at that time was so serious that Dr. Hale of Utica was called in consultation. The trouble is located in the left hip, but the exact extent of his injury is not known.

Towne first noticed a growing soreness in his left hip while attending classes Friday morning. Despite his consequent lameness, he reported for practice Friday afternoon and went through a short signal drill. Towne expects to be able to report on the field again in two weeks.

COLLEGE STORE IN NEW LOCATION

Soda Fountain Installed—Store and Supplies Much Enlarged

The College Store has been moved from its old location to the basement of Commons Hall. This provides much more room, and is better in many ways. The store is finished in fumed oak, with counters and show-cases of the same material. A complete soda fountain system has been installed.

The store handles all college supplies including books, stationery and furniture. Later, after the store has become better organized, a complete line of hats, suits, shoes, and sporting goods will be carried.

On this larger scale the store is a new venture. Five men took the responsibility of having the fixtures installed, and after these have been paid for, all the profits will be given to the Athletic Association. This is a College Store. There is no personal profit realized by any individual. No one will benefit by this venture except the undergraduates.

FOWLER ELECTED '23 PRESIDENT

Junior Class elections held in chapel last week resulted in the election of the following officers: Richard S. Fowler of Dayton O., president; J. Philip Doane of Clinton, N. Y., vice-president; Arthur E. Warren of Remsen, N. Y., secretary; Mynderse G. VanHoesen of Mesa, Idaho, treasurer; Fred L. Palmer of New York City, editor of "Hamiltonian"; John K. Willard of Minneapolis, Minn., business manager of "Hamiltonian."

SADAQUADA GOLF CLUB PLAYER WINS EXHIBITION MATCH

An exhibition golf match was held last Wednesday afternoon on the college six-hole course between Sherrill Sherman, '04, Peter Robertson, professional of the Yahnundasis Golf Club, and Mr. Nichols of the Sadaquada Golf Club. Mr. Nichols made the best score with 77, followed by Mr. Robertson, who made 80. Mr. Sherman scored 82. Par is 63 and bogey 67. On account of the poor condition of the greens, putting was more difficult than usual. All three players expressed surprise that the college had so fine a golf course.

SCORELESS FOOTBALL

The gridiron conflicts last Saturday resulted in a surprising number of scoreless ties, undoubtedly as direct results of the wet and slippery condition of the various fields. In addition to the Hamilton-Clarkson game, the following games resulted in a 0-0 score: Stevens-Haverford; Conn. Aggies-Trinity; Bates-Mass. Aggies; Norwich-R. P. I.; Amherst-Tufts; Williams-Bowdoin; Alfred-Allegheny.

GIFT OF T. L. CROSS, '81

One hundred and thirty-four volumes have been purchased for the Edward North Memorial Department of Greek Literature through a fund provided by Theodore L. Cross, '81, of Utica. This department of the college library already has a large collection of Greek works, some of them rare editions.

Spice o' Life

Campus Occurrence

(Apologies to the author of Beowulf)
Forth they fared at the fated moment,
Stealthy disturbers of sound-sleeping slime,
Deftly to dump them from deep-drowsing dreamland.
Cautiously crossed they the carpet-clad campus.

Climbed they a crooked and cracked, creaking staircase.
Longed they to lift latent lads from their lairs.
From flying feather beds flew frightened freshmen.
Moonlight the while mildly smiled on marauders.

Panting and pale in their pretty pajamas,
Shivering slime stood with stupified stare.
Then, amid threats, things were thrown into order.
Soon, save for snores, silent slumbered the slime.

Dr.: "This is the third time you have been late to class. Don't you know you can't stop the flight of time?"

Fish: "Oh, I don't know. I just stopped a couple of minutes down the street." Mugwump.

"You'll have to hand it to him!" remarked the football fan as the left end dropped a forward pass. (Voo Doo.)

Jessie: "Billy swears terribly."

James (absent mindedly): "Yes, I can do better myself." (Juggler.)

He: "Did your watch stop when you dropped it on the floor last night?"

Him: "Sure. Did you think it would go through?" (Sun Dial.)

Young Lady (with hopes): "What do you think is the fashionable color for a bride?"

Male Floor Walker: "Tastes differ, but I should prefer a white one." (Jester.)

Customer (in book store): "I want the last word in dictionaries."

Clerk: "Yes, sir. Zythum." (Record.)

"I hear some of these Profs lead a fast life."

"I doubt it; none of 'em passed me this year." (Gargoyle.)

Soph: "What would you say if I flunked four subjects?"

Frosh: "Get out; you're fooling."

Soph: "That's what the Dean said." (Jester.)

Wigg: "Girls don't burst into tears as easily as they used to."

Wagg: "No; they've learned that crying ruins the modern complexion." (London Answers.)

He: "How fearfully and wonderfully we are made. Think even of my arms, what a mystery they are."

She: "Yes, but it's nice to be enveloped in mystery." (Boston Post.)

Put 'n Take

We're out of sorts just now. Our (editorially speaking, of course) best girl has just informed us she can't come to house party. Now we'll have to resort to our photographic collection of fair ones, turn each face down and just draw. Love must be blind; ah, yes!

But perhaps our melancholy is partially due to our financial depression. We've just paid our term bill.

Speaking of photographs reminds us: How many times will your beaming face appear in the college picture?

A facetious movie theatre manager advertised thusly: "The Four Horsemen, running all this week."

By the way, did you hear about the Slimer in public speaking the other day who soberly stated that the human body contained but a single lung?

We hate to talk too much about classes, but a student who had just been studying the Darwinian theory, desired to do some interesting outside reading on the subject. Having heard of a recently published book whose title sounded just about right but which he had forgotten, he went to a book store and asked for a book about a boy brought up by the monks. What he really had heard about was "Tarzan of the Apes."

Then there was also the case of the sweet young thing who asked for a book the name of which she couldn't distinctly remember, but which she thought was "The Red Boat" or something like that. It afterwards developed that she desired Omar Khayyam's "Rubaiyat."

The Ed. just handed us this one, handed in as an alumni note by one of the competitors, and said we should run it under the caption, Why Editors Die Young: "Elliott May, '21, and Wardwell Hawkins, '21, are going to room together this year and take up work at Johns Hopkins Medical School and M. I. T. respectively." All we have to say is that they must have some walk each night!

From History 1-2 comes this: Reporting on a source book, a sophomore cited "The Throw-back of the Roman Bridgebuilder". The instructor demanded the Latin of this title, which was given as "Regesta Pontificorum Romanorum", which of course means the "Archives of the Roman Popes."

Of course we don't have the slightest aspirations that any of our stuff will ever appear on the screen in "Topics of the Day" or in the Fox Films, but we do wish to remark that the Royal Gaboon must have some press agent.

To again sound the keynote with which we started, we quote from a conversation which we recently heard on the campus:

Junior to Frosh: "I sure am out of luck. One more cut and I'm out of college."

Slimer: "Out of luck? You don't know the meaning of the phrase. Why if I'm not being bawled out for smoking on the campus, some Rustie hollers 'Off the grass, Slime!' Unless I treat the upperclassmen with the utmost respect, I might better be a dachshund. Between the rules I must obey, the duties I am forced to perform, the Sophs and the constant fear of the horsing bench, life is hardly worth living. The only reason I did not quit or commit suicide long ago was because I wanted to find out what more hell could possibly break loose."

MISTY.

NEW PSI U HOUSE NEARS COMPLETION

Expected to be Ready for Occupancy December 1—Elizabethan English Style of Architecture.

The new Psi Upsilon House now being erected on College Hill is largely influenced by the Elizabethan period of English architecture, suggesting in general appearance the cottage of Anne Hathaway. The exterior of the house is of stucco finished in native stone, which is used in nearly all the construction of college buildings. The roof is of heavy rough graduated vari-colored slate. Across the back of the house is a large porch, with a view looking across the Oriskany Valley.

As one enters the house there is found on the immediate right, a large room to be used as a coat room. On ascending the stairs one is admitted to the living rooms. On the left at the extreme eastern end of the building is a library. At the right of the stairs is the great hall or living room, which is sixty feet in length. This room has three French windows opening onto a porch at the north; on the south there is a large fireplace with an inglenook adjacent. Beyond the great hall is the dining room. This is lighted by a window on the north and three windows facing College street; on the west side it has a large Gothic fireplace. The living rooms are so arranged that one may stand at the fireplace in the library and have an unbroken vista through library, entrance hall, great hall, and dining room, a distance of one hundred and thirty-four feet. Off the dining room is a butler's pantry, serving room, and kitchen.

The second and third floors are divided into a series of suites each containing a study and bedroom. Many of these studies are provided with fireplaces.

The house is built with a fire-proof staircase at the west end running from the cellar to the third floor. In the center of this staircase is an elevator for furniture. The house has been so arranged that at house party times the entire second floor may be completely shut off from the third floor. On the third floor there is a room set apart for sleeping quarters for returning alumni. On the ground floor, in addition to the reception room, there are quarters provided for servants.

It is expected that studies and bedrooms will be ready for occupancy December 1, and it is hoped that the living rooms will have been completed by February 1.

The architect is Mr. E. E. Joraleman of Buffalo, N. Y., whose only son was a member of the Psi chapter of Psi Upsilon. The builders of the house are the firm of Griffiths and Pierce of Utica. The committee in active charge of erection is headed by Dr. Frank H. Wood of the faculty, and associated in this task are Prof. Paul A. Fancher, Robert D. Fraser, '08, Francis Willoughby, '09, and Daniel Wardwell, '05.

The 1923 Hamiltonian board is anxious to get as many snapshots as possible for the new year book. So get busy, men. Hand in views of anybody, anything, that pertains to the college. Views of the campus and college activities are especially desired.
